TO-DAY'S DISPATCHES.

The Fisheries Commission—Sale of O. R. & N. Bonds.

Avenged His Sister's Dishonor —League Proclamation.

A SURPRISE TO THE PUBLIC.

LONDON, Sept. 2.—Sir Jas. Ferguson's announcement in the House of Commons of the fisheries commission was an entire surprise to the public on this side of the water. Those who had known that negotiations were going on were not aware they were so near completion. Sir Jas. Ferguson's statement was volunteered to the House. Nobody had asked the question. The Government, however, have never been free from anxiety. They were quite aware of the hostile spirit in which Canada conducted her proceedings, and they have long been apprehensive that the action of the Canadians with American vessels might lead to a serious collision. The American government practically refused to open the discussion of a new treaty while so many cases of Canadian outrages remained unsettled and unsatisfied under the old.

PROCLAMATION OF THE LEAGUE.

LONDON, Sept. 1.—In the commons this evening Mr. Dillon made a motion for an adjournment, in order to bring about a discussion about the proclamation of the national meeting in Clare. He asserted the meeting would be held and if blood was shed, it would rest upon the head of the government.

Mr. Balfour, Chief Secretary for Ireland, regretted the tone of Mr. Dillon's speech. He warned the members of the danger of holding a meeting in defiance of the prohibition of the government. The government, he said, was determined to prohibit all meetings which might cause disorder.

After the debate Messrs. Conybeare and Phillip Stanhope, offered to join Messrs. Dillon and O'Brien in addressing a meeting of the Ennis branch of the league. They say they will not flinch from arrest.

Mr. E. Robertson, Liberal, read Justice Stephens' definition of an unlawful assembly and contended that the league meeting did not come within that definition. T. P. O'Conner said he considered the proclamation simply meant the government had proclaimed war against the Irish people.

AMERICAN NEWS.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—The statement sent out from here last night that the President would appoint a commission to confer with the British Fisheries Commission which it has been announced will be appointed, is declared at the White House and State Department to have been made without any authority. The commission will, if sent here, be received by Secretary Bayard. There is a difference of opinion as to the authority of the President to appoint a commission which Congress distinctly refuses to authorize. Assistant Secretary Porter expressed the opinion to a P. N. A. reporter to-day that there was no authority for such a commission or anything of that sort. He referred to the attempts of the department to get such authority, and the failure, as an evidence that there was no authority.

BISHOP HARRIS DYING.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—Bishop William L. Harris, one of the pillars of Methodism in America, is dying of heart-disease at his home in East Eighty-first street in this city. He was stricken down in Liverpool a month ago. He returned home at once, and has been under medical attendance ever since. He has been delirious ever since yesterday. Bishop Harris was born near Mansfield, Ohio, in 1817, and was elected Bishop in 1872. He has traveled extensively all over the world and was the author of some elementary books on astronomy.

THE FISHERIES COMMISSION.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—Until officially advised of the appointment of the fishery commission by the British Government, to consider the questions in dispute between the United States and Great Britain relative to the Canadian fisheries, it is probable that no selections will be made of representatives of the United States Government. It is believed at the Department of State that the first conference will be held during this fall or next winter.

THE SALE OF O. R. & N. BONDS.

NEW YORK, Sep. 2.—Negotiations for the sale of the treasury assets by the Oregon and Transcontinental, were completed to-day. In addition to $3,000,000 of Oregon Railway and Navigation bonds the sale comprises $2,000,000 par value of stock. The prices were not made public, but a large amount of purchase money was paid and the balance will be paid to-morrow. The sale is to a foreign syndicate, chiefly represented by Henry Villard. Rumors of a change in the management of the Oregon companies were officially denied.

GOULD'S MONEY.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 2.—A statement is made here to-day that Jay Gould supplied the $100,000 cash which the U. S. Express Company paid for the Baltimore and Ohio Express. This is naturally regarded as having some object other than the consummation of the express deal, which Gould had an interest in only so far as it was one means of accomplishing a telegraph deal.

THE EARTHQUAKE ANNIVERSARY.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Sept. 1.—There is general relief and rejoicing here on account of the earthquake anniversary having passed without another shaking. Very few people slept last night. Almost the entire negro population spent the night in churches and at open air meetings, while the whites remained awake in their houses. It was a night of terrible suspense. To-day the city seems as if a burden was lifted from it.

AN AVENGER.

NOGALES, Ariz., Sept. 2.—An American policeman, named Caronell, was shot and killed last night by Augustine Escadiro, 19 years old, for the betrayal of the latter's sister.

EARTHQUAKE.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 2.—Dispatches from El Paso and Nogales, Ariz, report severe shocks of earthquake last night. No damage reported.

SAFE ROBBED.

ALBUQUERQUE, Sept. 2.—The safe in the office of C. W. King, agent of the Brewing Association, was opened by burglars last night and $400 in coin taken.

GOVERNOR BARTLETT.

OAKLAND, Sept. 2.—Governor Bartlett passed a comfortable night and is resting quietly to-day.

LONDON SOCIETY GOSSIP.

Lady Colin Campbell's Beauty---A Royal Princess's Milliner.

A correspondent from London, cables that the most beautiful woman by all odds that he has observed in London is Lady Colin Campbell. At a reception given by the British Artists' Association at their attractive rooms the other day, Lady Colin was the observed of all observers—the tall and graceful figure, her exquisite complexion, showing to perfection in a gown of black chantilly lace and jet, while a bonnet covered with English violets proved a most becoming offset to her fair, low brow. Conspicuous among the celebrities present was little Mr. J. McNeil Whistler, the President of the Society of British Artists. He wears the characteristic single eyeglass, without which he is never seen in public, a yellow tie and yellow gloves, and looked like one of his own "Symphonies in yellow," while his much-prized lock of white hair was pulled up on the top of his Byronic curls until it looked like an innocent little white feather.

Every time the Princess of Wales is seen in public she appears in a different bonnet. A warm personal friend of the Princess Christian, to whom she imparted the following bit of gossip, informs me that her royal sister-in-law, the Princess of Wales, invariably takes her bonnets apart immediately after their coming from the milliner and herself "does them over" with her own deft fingers, and that she frequently urges the Queen to allow her to make for Her Majesty a modern bonnet; but, added the Princess Christian, with somewhat of a sigh: "Mamma is so old-fashioned she can never be persuaded to accept the Princess' offer." The Princess Christian is by far the most popular of the Queen's daughters. It was extremely noticeable upon the day of the opening of the People's Palace. In walking up the aisle of the Queen's Hall the Princess Beatrice preserved the most severe expression of countenance, while her sister was all smiles, and received in return applause and kindly salutations, which were not extended to the wife of Prince Henry of Battenberg. It is an open secret that the Princess Beatrice (probably owing to her constant attendance upon the Queen) has assumed an air of superiority that has made her sadly unpopular with the people at large.

It was my good fortune to pass a morning recently in the private apartments of the Queen, at Windsor. In the long gallery, which is much used by Her Majesty for walking in the midst of most gorgeous surroundings of pictures, marbles, gems and curios, the rarest the world can produce, were a quantity of children's toys, a rocking horse, a small bicycle, a little cart and wooden horse attached. "What, I said to my attendant, "are these toys doing here?" They proved to be the treasures of the two little Connaughts, to whom the Queen personally devotes much of her time, having given their mamma, the Duchess of Connaught, her royal word to guard them well during her daughter-in-law's stay in India. Her Majesty insists that the toys shall remain where she may see them, possibly as a reminder of her own early childhood.

Yale News.

Mr. John Lawrence had a valuable cow killed on the railway track near the first tunnel a few days ago and a couple of Siwashes had two horses killed near Five Mile Flats. Claims for damages have been applied for in each case but so far there had been no response from the company.

THE DRING-MILLER MURDER.

Continuation of the Investigation in the Police Court.

In the Provincial Police Court this (Friday) afternoon, before Mr. E. Johnson, S. M., the case of Quamlet, charged with the murder of Dring and Miller, was resumed. Mr. W. Pollard appeared for the defense.

Louis Good, Chief of the Nanaimo tribe, was sworn interperter.

Supt. Roycraft stated that an Indian woman, a witness in the case, was threatened by friends of the prisoner.

Mincey, an Indian woman, was sworn: Am a Salmon river Indian; remember the hanging of an Indian named Kaioos at Nanaimo; he was a Salmon river Indian; the brother's name is Quamlet, the prisoner now in the dock. The prisoner was in Nanaimo when his brother was hanged, and lived in the same house with witness; Quamlet told witness that he wondered where the man was who hanged his brother, and he said it would not be very long before he did something to him. Quamlet left Nanaimo on Saturday; he stayed in the same house with witness until he went away. Remember two Indian women staying in the house; they were crying because Kaioos was dead. The women asked prisoner what he was going to do for them; he said they need not be sorry; prisoner said "my heart feels good for I will have revenge on my brother." Quamlet did not sleep at all and seemed to be afraid; on the Friday before the murder a cousin of Quamlet's came to Nanaimo from Cape Mudge; on Saturday morning prisoner and his cousin left Nanaimo in a canoe; witness asked prisoner where he was going, and was told that they were going to catch seal outside of Nanaimo. Quamlet had a rifle and a butcher knife; it was a new knife which he bought from George Lockway; the knife was bought shortly after the hanging; Quamlet and Johnny returned at seven o'clock on Sunday night; they had nothing in the canoe, when prisoner returned he stepped in the same house with witness; heard of the murders on the following Tuesday; witness told prisoner that he must have killed the white men; Quamlet did not answer. Knew Mr. Stewart, the constable at Nanaimo; he came to witness house and found Quamlet there. Mr. Stewart asked whether prisoner had been anywhere; witness said Quamlet had always been at home. Johnnie, the other murderer, drank himself to death last Christmas; he got drunk, laid in the snow and froze to death; remember the house being searched by Supt. Roycraft; Quamlet and Johnnie were in the house when the Superintendent searched the place; Quamlet was afraid and put his hands before his face; Johnnie held his head down. When the Superintendent left the house Quamlet said, "I wonder who found that out;" he said he wished to go away to his own country; she asked them why they wanted to leave; prisoner told witness to hold her tongue. Quamlet said he was afraid the constable would catch him. Witness saw Quamlet on a steamboat at Comox. The Supt. caught him and put him on the steamer; he was nervous and told witness that "the whites had caught him, and to have pity on him; he would give $100 and a canoe worth $150." He said he felt glad because he had given everything to his friends and was not afraid if they killed him."

The case is still in progress.

ON THE WING.

Movements of People We Know and have Read of.

The Rev. Hugh Pedley, of Cobourg, Ont., is at the Clarence.

Miss P. E. and E. Beldam, Japan, are at the Clarence, waiting the sailing of the Abyssinia.

Mr. Joseph Bennett has resigned his position as a nurse in the Royal Hospital. He starts for the Leech River gold mines.

Lieut.-Governor and Mrs. Nelson left this morning for the Harrison Hot Springs, where they will remain a few weeks.

Hon. Alex Mackenzie, at latest accounts, was the guest of Dr. King, Winnipeg, and somewhat improved in health since leaving Banff. In Winnipeg he is under treatment by Dr. Agnew.

A large number of passengers went over to New Westminster this morning by the Rithet. She had also on board a heavy freight list consigned to interior points.

The death at Nelson, Miramichi, N. B., is announced of the very Rev. Michael Egan, in his 81st year, the 59th of his priesthood and the 54th of his pastorate. He was the oldest priest in that province.

Mr. J. H. Hunter, of Durham, Ontario, one of Northwestern Ontario's most successful merchants arrived in the city last night and is registered at the Clarence. Mr. Hunter for eight years represented South Grey in the Ontario Legislature. He is a shrewd business man, a keen discerner of the times and an enterprising citizen. He will remain in Victoria a few days. In politics he is a staunch Liberal.

POLICE COURT.

(Before E. Johnson, Q. C., S. M.)

Frank Jones, an American Indian, charged with being in possession of an intoxicant. The defendant claimed that he was not an Indian. The charge was withdrawn.

Frank Jones, the American Indian, was charged with carrying a loaded revolver. Bound over to keep the peace for one month, or to be imprisoned for 30 days.

An expressman was charged with driving without a badge. Fined $2.50.

An assault case was dismissed, the plaintiff failing to appear.

Difficulty in the Tugs.

It is reported that the association in this city known as the Tug Union some time since resolved upon demanding an advance in the wages paid. That demand was put into force last night so far as the Pilot and Alexander were concerned. At 11 o'clock to-day Mr. Dunsmuir had a conference with the men. The condition of the shipping and towing business was discussed in a friendly spirit for a time. It was held by Mr. Dunsmuir that circumstances did not warrant the advance asked for being granted at present. No solution to the difficulty was reached and the men finally all walked ashore. A watchman now has charge of the vessels named.

Fire! Fire!!

The undersigned beg to notify their customers and the public generally that they can be found on Fort Street, two doors above Blanchard, until the premises lately occupied by them are rebuilt, and are now ready to supply all kinds of confectionery at lowest prices.

REDGRAVE & EGGA.

HONGKONG'S GOVERNOR.

Arrival of Sir William Des Voeux, Governor of Hongkong.

Sir William Des Voeux, late Governor-General for Newfoundland, arrived in Victoria on Thursday night on his way from England to Hongkong, of which dependency he has been appointed Governor. His Excellency is accompanied by his Aide-de Camp, Hon. S. W. Bethel, grand-son of one of Britain's Vice-Chancellors. They are registered at the Driard, where they will remain until the sailing of the Abyssinia, now discharging at Vancouver. Sir William is a brother-in-law of the late General Windham, who so greatly distinguished himself in the Crimean war, in connection with the capture of the Redan in front of Sebastopol. During his administration of affairs in Newfoundland many important measures were passed in that Province. He left carrying with him the good will of the entire community. The salary in Newfoundland is £2,000 a year; in Hongkong it is £6,000. A few years ago, when Governor of the Fiji Island, his salary was £4,200 a year.

From Sir William THE TIMES learns that Hongkong is now the fourth shipping port in the world, only exceeded by London, Liverpool and New York. The tonnage of the civilized powers entered last year exceeded 7,000,000 tons, to say nothing of the innumerable Chinese junks coming from all parts of the Flowery Kingdom. Hongkong is rapidly becoming one of the greatest emporiums in the world, as the major portion of the Chinese and Japanese goods pass through it. The weekly arrivals will average 70 vessels. Sir William's first appointment was given him by the bar of Upper Canada, when he went as a special magistrate to British Guiana, this was followed by his being selected as administrator to Saint Lucia, then to Trinidad, Fiji, the Bahamas, High Commissioner of the Western Pacific, then Newfoundland, and last but not least Hongkong. Sir William at length explained his position and views in what is known as the Bait bill, which it is believed will exclude the French fishermen from fishing in Newfoundland waters. So far as the Newfoundland fisheries are concerned they are always in a precarious condition. He said they were not a provident class; they spent as they earned it regardless of the future. Sir William said that he was not a stranger in Canada, being what might be correctly termed an old timer. For many years he resided in Toronto, and practised at the legal bar of Upper Canada. A quarter of a century ago he was an inveterate sportsman, cricket being his favorite sport. Then he played in many important matches between Toronto and Montreal. Since that period Ontario had made enormous strides forward as had likewise the other provinces. Not having seen much of Victoria he was not in a position to give his opinion concerning the city. Sir William is a vigorous gentleman and good for many years hard administrative work.

CAPTAIN McKINNON

Makes His Statement in Reference to the Abyssinia's Trip.

Capt. McKinnon returned last night from Barrard Inlet, where he left the Abyssinia. At his request we publish the following as his version of the case:

He states that at 7 o'clock in the morning he heard a steamship whistling at short intervals for a considerable time. About half-past seven, heard the same whistle in the offing of his lighthouse. The morning was somewhat thick and hazey. Then saw a ship and the whistle was still blowing. To his wife he stated that he would go out and ascertain what vessel it was, as it possibly might be a ship in want of assistance. Got his boat and went to the ship. On nearing her found it was the China steamer Abyssinia. When within a short distance of the ship the captain asked where are the pilots. He replied, do not know. The captain asked for pilot McAllister. He replied that it was his belief that McAllister had gone up to Burrard Inlet on a bark in tow of the Pilot. He then told Capt. Marshall that he was the lighthouse keeper. McKinnon was asked to go on board. Met the captain on the bridge and had a conversation with him. He told the captain that he was an old Burrard Inlet pilot. The captain asked if he had license, to which McKinnon answered no, but that he held a certificate granted him many years ago when this province was a Crown Colony. Capt. Marshall replied, "My God, am I to detain my ship until I get a pilot; God only knows when they will be here." To McKinnon he then said, "You can take my ship up." The bell was then rang for full speed ahead and the journey was resumed. It was now fully 9 o'clock. She reached Vancouver wharf at 4:30 that afternoon. When McKennon left the house he had no idea of taking charge of the vessel to Burrard's Inlet. He went simply to offer his services if she wanted to come to anchor off the outer wharf or in Royal Roads. To the Captain he stated that he supposed the pilots would be annoyed with him for boarding the vessel. The Captain further said it was not to be supposed that he could await the convenience of the pilots. He then left the bridge with McKinnon in charge.

On reaching Burrard Inlet McKinnon crossed to Moodyville to see Mr. Springer, Pilot Commissioner, and acquainted him with the circumstances of the case. Mr. Springer said that Captain Urquhart had wired that he was within 100 yards of the ship when she started. McKinnon then said: Is it presumable that a captain of a ship would take an unlicensed pilot when he had a licensed one within a distance less than the length of the ship? After this met Captain Marshall, who asked him to send in his bill, which he did. It was accepted by the Captain and signed by him as commander. On Thursday the following was handed McKinnon by Captain Marshall:

VANCOUVER, Sept. 1, 1887.

I have pleasure in stating that Mr. A. McKinnon piloted the steamer Abyssinia from Victoria to this port.

I waited a long time at Royal Roads for a pilot, and was glad to accept Mr. McKinnon's services.

THE ADVANTAGE TO THE U. S.

ERASTUS WIMAN has evidently made up his mind to keep the question of commercial union prominently to the front, and for that purpose is addressing public meetings in the east as often as opportunities offer. At Detroit, at a meeting held under the auspices of the Board of Trade, and which is pronounced by the telegraph to have been overwhelmingly in favor of free trade alliance, Mr. WIMAN explained that commercial union meant so far as trade was concerned, that the whole continent of North America should be one country, with no dividing line to stop the ebb and flow of commerce. In reply to the question as to how such a union could be consummated without endangering the tie that binds Canada to Britain, he pointed to the fact that so far as commercial regulations are concerned Canada is to-day no more a part of the British Empire than is New York or Massachusetts. Never before, said Mr. WIMAN, in the history of the world was presented an opportunity so great as that which now presented itself to the United States for the extension of its trade and commerce. Without the drawing of a sword, without the shedding of a single drop of blood or the cost of a single dollar, the area could be doubled over which the trade and commerce of the United States can be freely extended. Extensive quotations were made to show that the climate of Canada, which was supposed to be so unfavorable, was really more favorable to agricultural pursuits than territories further south, as shown in the enormous producing area much exceeding that of the U. S. As to iron, what the devil was to religion, phosphorus was to iron, and throughout the United States the presence of phosphorus was the great drawback, while in the ores of Canada its almost entire absence made it most important that the United States should have free access to them. As to copper, it was claimed there were unlimited supplies of per centages, ranging from six to thirty per cent, while the famous Calumet and Hecla mines yielded only 5 per ct. Allusion was also made to the abundant supplies of nickel, the mountains of phosphorate and numerous other minerals, together with 5,000 miles of coast line fisheries and limitless timber forests; that the fishery question and all other conflicts could be thus adjusted and that inasmuch as the people of Canada, by a majority of two to one, were now in favor of a close alliance with the United States, it would seem as if an opportunity was offered by which a close assimilation of the interests of both nations could be reached by commercial union, to accomplish which a political union was unnecessary.

THE TIME TO CRY "HALT."

The Toronto Mail, having cut the last cord that bound it to the government, is now laboring earnestly and with signal ability to undo many things which the Conservative party, with the aid of its powerful backing, succeeded in accomplishing. Its advocacy of unrestricted trade relations with the United States is evidently sincere, as it is undoubtedly vigorous and incessant. It indicates a startling change of opinion and must exercise an important influence on the public mind. A few years ago the Mail was a most pronounced protectionist. But along with its new-found faith on trade questions and temperance reform, it has quite as suddenly become an ultra economist in regard to the expenditure of Dominion money in the Provinces. The demands of the Victoria Board of Trade, as laid before the Minister of the Interior, are viewed with alarm, and our contemporary prophesies all sort of evil things for the Dominion if the right of this province to a just share of public expenditure, and on the basis of its necessities, should be conceded. By an arithmetical process of its own it estimates that the proposals of the board "point to an aggregate addition to our financial burdens of $600,000 per annum." It may or may not be accurate in its estimate; that can be determined when the government is prepared to seriously entertain the "demands" with a view to granting them, if found urgent and necessary in the public interest. Our contemporary points to the importunities of the other provinces, and calls upon the Dominion Government to call a halt. The Prince Edward subway, a grant to the Chignecto (N. B.) Railway, a bridge across the St. Lawrence, the Ottawa ship canal, canal enlargement on the St. Lawrence, &c., &c., are need as foils to the just claims of British Columbia, and we are gravely told that no new enterprises involving additional liabilities should be encouraged just now. Our contemporary ignores the fact that excluding the Canadian Pacific Railway, expenditures by the Dominion Government in this province have been infinitesimally small as compared with those in the Maritime Provinces. On the general principle that public expenditure is altogether disproportionate to population, and that the federal debt has become a burden hard to be borne, we are not disposed to take issue with our contemporary; but we most assuredly will object to bear a pro rata share of the national debt unless we are given a quid pro quo for the sacrifice. British Columbia asks only for her just rights—nothing more. It asks assistance from the federal treasury to aid in developing its resources, the effect of which would be felt all over the Dominion. When placed on the same footing as Nova Scotia and Quebec in respect to appropriations, our people will be satisfied to call a grand provincial conference and resolve in future that each one will "paddle his own canoe." But we must be excused from doing so now, for we have been badly handicapped by profuse liberality to smaller, less deserving and older members of the confederation.

POLITICAL AND PERSONAL.

Regarding the alleged interview by a Manitoba Conservative with Sir John about British regulars, Sir John sends the following dispatch to the World from Dalhousie, N. B.: "The statement in the interview with me in the Toronto News of the 23rd is a malicious falsehood without one word of truth in it."—

Toronto Mail: British Columbia recently effected a loan of a million dollars. The money has been expended in meeting current expenditures and in making capital outlays to which the government has pledged itself, and it is predicted that when the Legislature meets there will be a deficit. They are doing things on a Dominion basis out West.

The Montreal Gazette, a good authority, says there is probably some truth in the report from Kingston that Col. Oliver is about to retire from the command of the Military college and that Sir Fred. Middleton has applied for the appointment. Gen. Middleton's term as commander of the militia forces in Canada will expire in less than two years, and it has been known here in a quiet way for some time past that he was desirous of making some arrangement by which at the end of his term he should settle permanently in Canada.

Mail cablegram on the 25th ult.: Mr. Baden-Powell, M. P., said to-day: "I wish you would ask the Manitobans through the Mail to wait a week longer before taking any further action, when the Pacific question will probably be settled." He means, of course, that if a subsidy be granted to the mail route by the Imperial Government the company will be in a position to reduce rates. It is the general opinion here, however, that the struggle between Manitoba and the Central Government has reached too acute a stage to admit of a compromise. In fact, fears are entertained in some quarters for the integrity of the Dominion.

It is understood that the Pall Mall Gazette is about to send a special correspondent of some repute through Canada, with a view, it may be supposed, to the complete enlightenment of the British public as to the somewhat complicated state of affairs here. It is exceedingly improbable that this end will be attained. Special correspondents have special uses, and should have special fields. When the matter to be described and explained is so limited as to be reasonably within one man's vision and easily within his understanding, the version of the special correspondent may be accepted by his public without serious question. But where problems have arisen which are the growth of centuries, and disputes which have their roots deep in the national life of the country, and anomalies that require much of both study and actual contact to make them comprehensible—in such case, which is our case, the flying trip of a special correspondent is not quite adequate to its object. Upon many subjects it is likely that the Pall Mall Gazette and its readers will be informed much as chance or diplomacy makes its representative indebted for his enlightenment to various interested parties here.

THE WIDE WORLD.

The News by Wire and Mail in Brief Paragraphs.

The British empire in India extends over a territory larger than the Continent of Europe without Russia.

A Glasgow distiller, Daniel McFarlane, who died a few weeks ago at Delvine, in Perthshire, has left £291,673.

The equestrian statue of General Meade is being set up in Fairmount Park, Philadelphia, and will be unveiled on Oct. 19th.

The St. Paul road now runs four trains a day between Milwaukee and St. Paul, and the running time is reduced two hours.

The farm of Huntingtower, near Perth, Scotland, which was let 19 years ago at a yearly rental of £630, has just been let for £850.

Buffalo Bill intends to give a full season in Paris and a winter season in the Coliseum in Rome. His European engagements extend over three years.

It is said that the King of Siam has granted concessions for two railways, both to Englishmen. This may be regarded as conclusive proof that British influence in that quarter is not on the decline.

The total number of immigrants who arrived in the United States during July from the principal foreign countries (Canada and Mexico excepted) was 39,080, against 31,528 in July, 1886.

Extensive additions and improvements are being made in connection with the Fraser Institute at Montreal, and the city will soon have the commencement of a splendid Free Public Library.

The young subaltern of the Rifle Brigade who has been instrumental in securing the troublesome rebel leader, Nyamin Yung, in a personal encounter near Toungdwingyee, Burmah, is a son of Sir Wm. Jenner. Another son of Sir William has lately been appointed adjutant, and is to get his captaincy in the 9th Lancers, which regiment he joined in 1880.

The Prince and Princess of Wales and their daughters will go to Abergeldie Castle for a stay of three weeks on the 17th inst. The Prince will be the guest of Lord Fife at Mar Lodge and of Col. Farquharson at Invercauld for a few days during his stay in the north.

A FEW PUZZLES.

SOME CURIOUSLY ADDRESSED LETTERS THAT COME TO NEW YORK.

"The Blind Man" and His Perplexing Work of Correcting the Blunders of Stupid, Ignorant or Careless People in All Parts of the World.

In the New York postoffice there is an employe whose name is Stone, but who is generally known as the Blind Man. He has answered to that title for thirty-one years, but his eyesight is as keen as a falcon's. It is partly because of his keenness of vision and partly because of the remarkable aptitude he has developed for deciphering hieroglyphical directions on letters that he has been given the title, which, more correctly expressed, would read, the "Man Who Deciphers Blind Directions."

The work of the Blind Man has now grown so large that half a dozen assistants are kept busy poring over directories of all the principal cities in this country and Europe. Lists of firms, individuals and streets are also looked through. These have accumulated during a third of a century, but the directories are mostly old, as the government is too penurious to provide new directories upon requisition. The "blind department" received in one day fifty-four registered letters which the regular clerks could do nothing with.

A BIG DAY'S WORK.

The blind man and his assistants have studied out 2,500 blind directions in ordinary letters in one day. Those that prove undecipherable are sent to the dead letter office at Washington. Most of the puzzles come from abroad, but bankers and brokers in New York and other large cities, Assistant Postmaster Gaylor says, are the most frequent sinners. Hundreds of letters come from Brooklyn every day to New York that are intended for Brooklyn parties, but only New York has been written under the names on the face of the envelopes. Bank people are sometimes very careless writers, and their letters go astray often because the direction looks like something for which it is not intended. Not long ago, a letter sent by a country bank to a city bank, and containing $70,000, did not turn up. It was directed "J. R. Perkins, Cashier, N. Y." It was sought in vain for many days, until at last Mr. Gaylor, in looking closely at the writing of the cashier that directed the missing letter, surmised that his "Cashier" might have been mistaken for Catskill, and sure enough upon writing to the Catskill postoffice that proved to be the case, for the $70,000 letter was lying in the pigeon hole of that office awaiting call.

Another letter had such a clumsily written Yonkers upon its face that it did not reach that city, only fourteen miles away, until it had been to Turkey and back. Another instance of careless writing that made much amusement for an interested English nobleman was on a letter intended for J. Smith, Des Moines, Iowa. The letters were run together so curiously that they were supposed to read Delmonico's, Town. It was sent to the great restaurateur, and remained with him till Delmonico sent it back with the remark that J. Smith did not board with him.

SOME FOREIGN LETTERS.

A favorite style of directing with foreigners seems to be of this order:

"Solomon, merchant tailor, clothes cleaned, repaired and altered, 122 Maison ave., Amerika." Another read: "Herrn George Wolf, bonght of James Krefnk, dealer in staple and fancy groceries, fruits, vegetables, oysters in season, No. 1,015 West Seventeenth st., cor. Randolph." These are copied from billheads, and give everything except the most essential point of all, the name of the place.

Very few know in how many ways Pennsylvania can be spelled. Here are a few specimens: Pennavainei, Pencilyania, Pen S. Vena, Pensylriannia, Penselmein, Bersievania, Pennalsevena, Pannsylvania, Pennsilvaia, Renselwanna.

Here are a few occasional spellings: Bijjoisi for Ocean Beach, N. J.; Minasetta for Minnesota, Puceyck for Passaic, New Jawsc, New Jiersi and New Gerry for New Jersey, Oio and Oibo for Ohio, Siraksa for Syracuse.

An envelope has this: "I shall ask you to please send back the letters I received when nod at home and which I don't got." Another writes: "I can too little English for tell you what I mean. Have I sent you letter on Swiss packet to Mr. —— by the factory of the U. S. in Jersey City. He will my mouthpiece be with you."

As examples of deciphering take this:

Mrs. Frank M.
Stonder,
N. Rashell.

The blind man translates it into "Mrs. Frank M. Stonder, New Rochelle."

And this:

Paul Caplette,
Vestra.

Which was sent to Haverstraw.

Here is a regular jawbreaker of a name and a decidedly mixed direction:

Kriss Hollyak,
Cslm bizet,
Fraonth river,
New'e Koutle,
America.

In each case cited the full address found upon the letter has been given. These selections were made from the accumulations of one full day and part of another, with the exception of the two mentioned by Mr. Gaylor, which passed through the office some time before. Each day brings between 1,000 and 2,000 letters equally obscure, which are studied out with great care. About 10 per cent. are sent to the dead letter office; the remainder reach their destinations.—New York Mail and Express.

He Kept Still.

"Didn't you pay fare twice?" asked a Cass avenue car conductor as he returned to an old man at the front of the car.

"Yes, sir."

"Why didn't you say you had paid when I came the second time?"

"Oh, I bilked this road of a ride about three months ago, and I thought you had found it out."—Detroit Free Press.

Worse Than Darwin's Theory.

Lord Monboddo used to gravely contend that apes could talk readily enough, but their superior cunning told them to hold their tongues lest they should be put to hard work.—Leeds Mercury.

There are only three cities in the world which have a larger Scandinavian population than Minneapolis. They are Christiania, Stockholm and Copenhagen. Minneapolis has 50,000 Scandinavians.

A well known New Yorker, long noted for his success, once said: "The secret of wealth does not lie in knowing how to hold on to money, it consists in knowing when to let it go."

Insomnia Caused by Dyspepsia.

"There is a man who rarely sleeps at night, he says, on account of dyspepsia," remarked a restaurateur as he pointed to a man eating at one of the tables. "He leads a very sedentary life, and yet eats food in this weather which I wouldn't think of touching, although I am always on the go. He is a great eater in the first place of pastry and fresh baked rolls. He dotes on strawberry shortcake in season, and altogether eats those things which one in his condition should not. And yet he wonders why he is always afflicted."—Philadelphia Call.

RETRENCHMENT WAS NECESSARY.

Mrs. Bixby Determined to Make the Household Bills as Light as Possible.

Mrs. Bixby became convinced the other day that retrenchment was absolutely necessary in her household expenses.

"Business is dull," she said, "and I must make our bills as light as possible. Poor husband is quite worried over our affairs. Now, how can I save $5 or $10 and show Mr. Bixby that women can be economical if necessary? I know," she said suddenly, in the joyful tone of one who has had a happy thought. "I will do without the hat I intended getting to wear with my new gray suit. I can wear my black imported straw with it very well, and I will, too. I just must learn to economize."

Then she put on her hat and went down town, so elated over her "clear saving of five whole dollars," that she intended walking home with Mr. Bixby at noon and telling him all about it.

"I wonder now," she said, as she stopped before the windows of a glove store, "I wonder if I couldn't afford a new pair of those tan kid gloves with stitching on the back. I really need them, and I've saved $5 by going without my hat, so—yes, I'll get them; they'll cost only $2."

Ten minutes later she stood before the ribbon counter in a dry goods store.

"This ribbon is really very cheap," she was saying to herself, "and I need a lot of ribbon awfully. I wonder if I could afford it today. Let me see, I—oh, of course I can, after saving $5 on that hat."

And she bought ten yards of ribbon at twenty-five cents a yard.

"Great sale of embroidery," she read on a placing placard a moment later.

"Just what I need," she said, "but I've been doing without because I wanted to economize; but I'm sure Charles couldn't say anything if I bought a little when I've saved five whole dollars."

So she bought "a little" for $1.75. Then she got "the greatest kind of a bargain" in remnants of French gingham for $1.50.

"I never would have bought it," she said to herself, "but it was so cheap, and then I'd saved five dollars this morning."

Before reaching her husband's office with the cheering news of her economy she had bought four yards of lace, three of insertion, a pound of candy, two collars and a pair of cuffs, a pair of slippers, two pairs of hose, handkerchiefs, three yards of lawn, a fan, a bunch of roses, another pair of gloves, and six linen handkerchiefs and two neckties for Mr. Bixby.

Then she repaired to Bixby's office with the tale of her economy, and ended by saying:

"And here's a few little things I thought I could afford after saving so much by going without my hat."

Bixby asked a few questions, made a rapid calculation, and said in an utterly heartless tone:

"See here, Sally, don't you economize any more. You'll break me sure if you do. You've got $16.98 worth of things already out of that $5, and——"

"You're just too mean for anything, Charley Bixby!"—Detroit Free Press.

The Interior of Venezuela.

The vast interior of this great land is almost unexplored. A good story is told of a certain inland river for whose purchase a large sum was offered by England and a larger demanded by Venezuela. Surveyors were sent out at great expense to ascertain the course of the stream. They came back and reported "there was no such river in existence." The bargain had to be suspended, while a new map was drawn. Amid the mountain ranges, upon mighty "llanos"—vast plains like our western prairies—there still reside remnants of the ancient Caribs, whose ancestors captured the islands where Columbus found the race when he came. They retain their language and their customs, living by the chase and by predatory warfare upon their neighbors, the Maiacas, who are cannibals, or the farther Goajiros, who are not much better.

In the vast rivers, alligators, deadly snakes and innumerable fish find congenial homes; and upon their banks rise grand forests of ebony, rosewood, mahogany, gold wood and trees of a hundred other varieties, where tigers, leopards, jaguars and pumas roam at will, pursuing the great herds of deer and antelopes that form their prey. Boas twenty feet long creep beneath the branches, or lazily dream away the hours after a hearty meal. The trees are inhabited by monkeys and bright winged parrots, both of which make excellent food. The Indians of these hunting grounds are as fierce and relentless as the beasts on whom they make war.

But this is all far away, and during our two months' travel in Venezuela, not one glance at monkey, tiger, snake or parrot outside of a cage was vouchsafed us, though we were in some pretty wild places. Such animals retreat before civilization, and do not appear to be any more plentiful in Caribobo or Maracaibo than in Saratoga or Orange.—Dr. W. P. Hutchinson in American Magazine.

TAKING A MUD BATH.

A Gentleman Describes the Process and the Sensations He Felt.

A well known gentleman who lives at the Fifth Avenue hotel came into the corridor from the street recently, looking as if he had been scourged for a week. He sat down, took a long breath, and fighting a long cigar began to puff vigorously. A reporter asked him if he was ill. He replied:

"Ill? No. I have just taken a dirt bath. Don't know what a dirt bath is? Then I'll tell you. I concluded that my system had run down and that I needed something to start my blood to circulating rapidly, in fact a general vitalizer. I was directed to take mud baths. These baths are very expensive. The attendant stood me up and began to cover me with what is known as Fuller's earth. I was incased in this substance with only my head sticking out. Then I was placed in a trough, a tube was inserted into the mud and an electric current turned on. The sensation was most unique and almost indescribable. The earth around my body soon became charged with electricity and snapped and coquetted with my skin in a most tantalizing way. At times there would seem to be a race of small tacks down my back, and then the sensation of a brush gently passing over me. My flesh simply acted as a conductor and enjoyed all the little pranks that a series of currents from powerful electric batteries can produce. After an hour I was stripped of the mud and 'massaged' for an hour by two stalwart attendants. A douche of water was administered, and I went home.

"But the bath cannot be finished in one day. I went back the next morning and was given a cold water bath and rubbed again very thoroughly. Then my feet were placed in water charged with electricity. The attendants then seized several large sponges, dipped them into the water and began to rub me. It was an electric bath, and the sponges fairly made me howl with the shocks I received. The next day I went back and finished the bath. I was placed in a vat of large grained salt and rolled about until my flesh glowed with irritating excitement. A rub down and water bath then finished my mud bath. It takes only three days. I wanted to perspire, and I succeeded. Sometimes I dream I am closed up in an armor of mud, and the perspiration comes from me in copious streams. If a man has three solid days to spare, I think nothing is more pleasant all around than to take a first class mud bath."—New York Mail and Express.

Mr. Van Horne Explains.

Mr. W. C. Van Horne in an interview with a Winnipeg Call reporter said that he was not adverse to the construction of the Red River road as the new line would share the responsibilities of the weather and the state of the foreign grain markets, which the C. P. R. had hitherto exclusively to bear. But he states he will continue to oppose the construction of the new road in the interest of the holders of C. P. R. stocks.

Black and Tan Cigars.

Men's and Boys' Hats, Caps, Ties, Gloves, Shirts, Socks, Underwear; also the goods damaged by the smoke. All goods will be marked in plain figures and sold for cash only. *

Catarrah, Catarrahal Deafness and Hay Fever.

Sufferers are not generally aware that these diseases are contagious, or that they are due to the presence of living parasites in the lining membrane of the nose and eustachian tubes. Microscopic research, however, has proved this to be a fact, and the result is that a simple remedy has been formulated whereby catarrh, catarrhal deafness and hay fever is cured in from one to three simple applications made at home. A pamphlet explaining this new treatment is sent free on receipt of stamp, by A. H. Dixon & Son, 305 King street West, Toronto, Canada.—Christian Standard. *

Coming to Victoria.

The following passengers are on the Geo. W. Elder which sailed to-day from San Francisco for this port: F Uhl, F T Martin, Miss Powell, W S Martin, B J Layton, A E Gray, Mrs E Kane, M Mabury and wife, R C James, F V Hulburt, S B Kelly, Mrs Capt White, A C Greenbaum. For Port Townsend: Miss Smith, C Strome, H McConnell, A Childs. For Seattle: Adams Serveson, E Cummens, J M Philben, Mrs Lee, Miss A Flood, Miss D Elwood, Capt J L Hall, Miss M Pippinger, Mrs M E Lambert, J Schiffer, G Constin. For Tacoma: Miss N Duff, L Baldauf, M J Doolin, Mrs Captain H H Berry.

A Prominent Official.

Sir Arthur Blackwood, C. B., head of the British P. O. and telegraph service, was amongst the arrivals from the east last night, and in company with his son is registered at the Driard. Sir Arthur is noted for his zeal in the cause of religion and the training of the young in the way in which they should walk. He is a full cousin of Lord Dufferin and reported to be an able energetic administrator. He reports that no decision has been arrived at yet with reference to the C. P. R. route being utilized by the Imperial and the Colonial Governments. His trip is with the idea of collecting all the information possible in relation to the Canadian national line. On his recommendation the cabinet is expected to act. He will be in the city a few days longer and return east by the same route he came.

—Kurtz's Jubilee Cigars are now ready.*

Shooting in the Park.

The amateur sportsmen who have been imperilling the lives of our citizens in the park since the shooting season opened, by firing indiscriminately at every bird they saw, are warned that in addition to the possibility that they may be guilty of manslaughter, they are transgressing the law in shooting within the corporation. The Chief of Police has received a pointer.

The Buggy Accident.

Mr. M. Cowan was more seriously hurt by being thrown out of his buggy yesterday than was supposed. His knee is considerably swollen and for a few days he will be incapacitated for business. Mr. C. F. Norton escaped more fortunately, and with the exception of being unable for a day or two to attend to his devotional duties is all right. Mr. Cowan will be able to attend to business again on Monday next.

An Event.

Sir Arthur Blackwood, K. C. B., has been induced to remain in Victoria a few days. On Sunday, at 4 o'clock p.m., he will deliver a lecture on Christian Life and Work in the rooms of the Y. M. C. A., Spencer's Arcade Block, Broad Street. The subject is such as should draw a full house. Sir Arthur is a good speaker, and can handle his subject in a masterly manner. It is an opportunity that should not be lost sight of to hear one who has made the matter a life-long study.

Retaliation.

The New Westminster Licensed Vintners have resolved that on account of the City Council passing the Sunday closing by-law, the hotel and saloon keepers would keep their establishments open on each and every Sunday during the term of their license. Heretofore all hotels and saloons have been closed during the hours of the church services on Sundays, although no law was in force to compel them to do so, but they did so at the request of the Council on behalf of some of the Church members.

Sportsmen.

Yesterday and to-day our local nimrods have been hard at work. Several good bags have been made in grouse and pheasants and the more desirable game—deer. To-day Mr. Finlayson of the customs house, returned to the city from the country with a full bag of partridges, quail and duck. Of the royal pheasant he got none. The rain of this morning interfered with his sport. The birds are not so numerous as it was reported they were, nor are they in more than ordinary condition.

The Cascade Division.

It is stated that the Northern Pacific has stopped selling tickets at its agencies to and from Portland over the O. R. & N. line to Wallula Junction. Concerning the matter the Oregonian writes that the new policy is a bad one, and that the road will certainly lose more by it than it can possibly gain. Oregon travel will not take kindly to such a round about route. The N. P. it is contended should be ready to sell tickets direct to Portland to persons who call for them. That is, it ought to accommodate Oregon to a reasonable extent, and as far as it can.

Masonic Presentation.

At the regular monthly meeting of Victoria-Columbia Lodge, A. F. & A. M., J. R. Mitchell was presented by the officers and brethren of that lodge with a beautiful Past Master's jewel. The presentation was accompanied by an address. Brother Mitchell, who was taken entirely unawares, briefly thanked the donors for their handsome offering. The jewel was designed and manufactured by Bro. W. H. Pennock, of this city. It is now on view in the window of Mr. Wenger, next door to Messrs. Hibben & Co.'s, where it will remain for a few days. Brother Mitchell well deserved the honor conferred on him.

Favorable Rates.

The O. R. & N. Co. have reduced rates on green fruit in car lots as follows from Portland to Omaha, Council Bluffs, Kansas City, Denver, St. Paul and Minneapolis to $1.10 per 100 pounds. To Chicago, St. Louis, Milwaukee and common points, $1.25 per 100 pounds. To the first named places the rate by passenger trains will be $2.10, and to the last named places $2.50. This is a lower rate than Portland shippers have ever had before and places them on a footing with San Francisco dealers.

It is to be hoped the C. P. R. management will go and do likewise. The rate from Victoria to Winnipeg is 5½ cents per pound per express, a rate so high that it is almost prohibitory. The Oregonian adds that there is likely to be a very heavy demand for fruit and our farmers and orchardists should see to it that their fruit is not allowed to go to waste as much of it has done in past years. All of which British Columbia farmers should note and govern themselves accordingly.

Grave Charges.

The report comes from Helena, Montana, that the territorial Board of Stock Commissioners, has been presented with a full account of the outrages of Canadian customs officials who are insisting on selling the American cattle which have strayed across the line. A special messenger has been sent for that purpose to Alberta. In all instances the cattle have been seized and sold illegally. Instances are known where the Canadian Mounted Police have crossed the line into Montana and driven them to the Canadian side, all trace of the cattle having been lost. The matter will be fully investigated and be brought before the authorities at Washington. The cattlemen in Alberta are indignant and will call a meeting at Macleod to remonstrate with the officials for their hasty action. They will protect the American owners as far as possible, as the Americans have returned their cattle without delay or annoyance.

The Custom House.

The contemplated changes in the staff of the Custom House in this city are now complete and will be in full force in a day or two. In the inside service Messrs. H. W. Graves and C. C. Fletcher will be added to the staff of clerks in the long room. Mr. A. R. Milne's office is being fitted up for appraising purposes. It is located in Mr. Hamly's building, Wharf street, near Fort. Mr. G. W. Frye, jr., will act as Mr. Milne's clerk in the appraising department. Mr. Donald McLean, who has been in the employ of Messrs. Welch, Rithet & Co. for a number of years, has been appointed to the position of sorter and packer. It is said that Mr. Newbury will take Mr. Milne's position in the long room—a position he has held for many years, discharging his duties with credit to himself, acceptably to the government and to the entire satisfaction of the public transacting business in that department. He now leaves it for a more onerous position, where no doubt he will display the many good qualities and natural abilities with which he is gifted to the same degree which has marked his conduct in the position about to be vacated by him.

Mr. Hunter will have charge of the vessels arriving and the unclaimed goods warehouse, which will hereafter be located in the store formerly occupied by Mr. Thomas Earle, on Wharf street, near the foot of Johnson, to which goods are now being carted from the old premises. It is believed that all these changes will prove to be of great advantage to this branch of Her Majesty's service.

AN EXCELLENT SUGGESTION.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

SIR—Having been so long favored with music by the bands of H. M. successive flag ships, and so often by that of the Triumph in particular, may I suggest to your readers that in the interest of both musicians and audience it is desirable to construct a pavilion, or at least a covered band stand on Beacon Hill?

There are many reasons why this should be done, among them I may mention that the music would be of greater effect if performed on an elevated stand; the band would have protection from the sun and a place of shelter in case of a sudden shower. The present site beneath the trees without a roofed stand is not a good one for the transmission of sound, and further, few great towns in any country are now without a band stand. Hoping this idea may be considered of sufficient interest to find space in your valuable paper, I am yours,

A LOVER OF MUSIC.

A CHARGE OF PERJURY.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

SIR—I read, with considerable surprise, your report of Mr. E. Johnson's remarks at the Police Court on Thursday. The police magistrate is a gentleman we all respect, and whose word off or on the bench is accepted without the slightest reservation. But if I understand the English language, Mr. Johnson, sitting as a judge, has charged that affidavits have been furnished to a Supreme Court judge in a habeas corpus case which were false; and hence that the person making them is guilty of perjury. This is a terrible accusation, and it would appear to me that Mr. Justice Gray dare not, as the custodian of a sacred trust—as one of those responsible for the administration of justice—allow it to go uninvestigated. Who has been guilty of perjury to secure the liberation of prisoners justly convicted of crime?

This question affects the administration of justice in our province; upon which you have commented on several occasions with exceptional severity. It would appear to me, from Mr. Johnson's statement, that you were fully justified in your strictures. If our courts are to be respected, our judges and lawyers must be like Caesar's wife, "above suspicion."

FIAT JUSTITIA.

In Brief and to the Point.

Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered liver is misery. Indigestion is a foe to good nature.

The human digestive apparatus is one of the most complicated and wonderful things in existence. It is easily put out of order.

Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics.

But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this sad business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

Remember! No happiness without health. But Green's August Flower brings health and happiness to the dyspeptic. Ask your druggist for a bottle. Seventy-five cents. *

Give Them a Chance.

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, croup, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon this for certain. *

Pipes That Absorb Nicotine.

"New ideas in pipes? Why, there are scores of them," said a prominent tobacconist to a reporter. "Inventors are constantly turning their attention to the subject of nicotine absorbers. There is a pipe with a sponge, a pipe with a cotton filter, and a pipe with a gauze attachment to the bowl, all contrived to absorb the deadly poison of tobacco. Nothing, however, is half so effective as the corn cob bowl. It absorbs all the nicotine in tobacco, until the pores of the pipe are full. Corn cob pipes should not be smoked more than a week. After they are saturated with nicotine it is very injurious to smoke them, because the smoker then gets the concentrated nicotine from the bowl. They cost only five or ten cents apiece and are very sweet when new. It is the thing nowadays for men of fashion to stroll through the streets in the early morning smoking corn cob pipes. It is English, you know."—New York Mail and Express.

A Cure for Nightmare.

A fertile brained man of this city, who cannot sleep on his back without conjuring up a series of distressing figures and situations, has hit upon a singularly effective plan to prevent getting into that position through the night. The contrivance consists of a tack driven through a board. The plank is fastened to his back loosely, and when he turns over from his side the tack is driven into his back and he at once springs up in the air and awakes when he comes down. The first night he bounded up a distance of eight feet, but it awoke him almost immediately.

He is getting more used to the sensation now and rarely jumps over three feet when the tack strikes him.—Manchester Courier.

Trust thyself; every heart vibrates to that iron string.

NOTICE.

PIONEER SALOON,

Corner View & Douglas Sts.

ON account of my leaving for England, I have now appointed JAMES A. KING, late at Bee Hive Saloon, as my successor, and hope my friends and patrons will give him the patronage accorded to me.

GEORGE BABBAGE.

Referring to the above, I am now on deck, and will be glad to meet both old friends and new ones, and will do my best to secure a continuance of their patronage. Come and see me. The best of Wines, Liquors and Cigars always on hand.
